

HAS NEW OFFER TO PAY MORE WAR DAMAGES

Allies and Germans Meet Today.

LONDON, March 6.—When the allied supreme council meets tomorrow to hear Germany's final word on reparations, Dr. Walter Simons, chief of the German delegation, will express Germany's willingness to make a new offer more nearly approaching the demands of the Paris accord than did the

The German foreign minister will not be prepared to outline the new proposals in full, but will explain it broadly as a scheme which Germany believes will be acceptable to the allies.

This is all that was required by the ultimatum presented last Thursday for the allies by Prime Minister Lloyd George, who said:

"The Germans must declare their readiness to submit something equivalent to the following:

Dr. Simons made the following statement tonight:

"The German delegation has been invited by the president of the conference to put forward any proposals

"We are earnestly seeking a way of solving this problem and to find a path leading to understanding.

"I repeat we are prepared to do our uttermost and that we are of good will, for that is the essential condition to any accord. But our good will finds its natural limit in Germany's capacity and resources. The treaty itself recognizes this.

Wants World Cooperation.
 "Furthermore, the economic problems of our time are such that cooperation of all countries are necessary for their solution and the reparation problem is doubtless a leading factor therein."

"We have only labor and industrial products to offer in payment, but just these two are in many cases undesirable to countries entitled to reparation if they appear as competition.

"Careful consideration therefore is

Discard Original Plan.
The Germans have dropped the idea of explaining their original counter proposals, being now convinced that these are wholly unacceptable. They will therefore offer something entirely new, based on a plan for new taxation on German luxuries, such as beer, tobacco, candy, tea, and coffee.

This has been one of the chief difficulties in the former proposals. Another is the dispute as to the value of

Hope for Short Recess.

The Germans hope that when Dr. Simons concludes his speech tomorrow there will be an adjournment for a day or two to enable the new proposals to be worked out in detail. The alternative is refused by the allies to consider the new offer and a final rupture.

I have been informed on good authority that Dr. Simons conferred privately last night with Mr. Lloyd George and Premier Briand. All three refuse to confirm or deny this. It is certain that Dr. Simons left his hotel late and was absent several hours. Mr. Lloyd George did not go to Chequers Court until this morning, and Premier Briand remained at the Hyde Park Hotel. I have also the highest authority for saying that Dr. Simons has been given an entirely free hand from

ALLIES OPEN THE WAY.

LONDON, March 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—From a French source Reuter's Limited learns that at the Second meeting of the supreme council the allies definitely fixed a basis on which they are prepared to admit new German proposals, and Lord d'Aber-corn, the British ambassador to Germany, and M. Loucheur, representing France, communicated an outline of this to the Germans.

The discussion at the first of this evening's meetings centered on the proposals drawn up by Herr Schroeder, the German finance minister, comprising chiefly acceptance of the annual payments fixed at Paris for the first five years, with the possibility of revision at the expiration thereof; an increase in the proposed twelve per cent tax to thirty per cent; the issue of an international loan of 8,000,000,000 gold marks, and the conclusion of commercial treaties providing, in effect, for the abolition of the inequality clauses. All this, however, was conditional on Germany retaining Upper Silesia.

In the course of a keen discussion at the first meeting, says Reuters, this offer was recognized as quite unacceptable.

Finally, the allies agreed to a project initiated by Mr. Lloyd George, the principal points of which are:

First, Germany to pay 3,000,000,000 gold marks annually for thirty years, instead of forty-two years; second, a levy in the importing countries of 30 per cent on German exports, with a fixed and guaranteed minimum.

Will Yield Large Sum.
This tax might yield 6,000,000,000 to 8,000,000,000 marks after the first five years.

Regarding the difference between the amount of reparations fixed by the Paris conference and by these suggestions, it would be left to the reparations commission to make up the total of the Paris agreement after determining the total damage. There it is considered that this resolution would be equivalent to the Paris agreement.

The Germans tonight were unable to reply definitely to the suggestion. The allied representatives will deliberate again tomorrow morning on the subject.

FRENCH PRESS AROUSED

BY HENRY WALKER.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, March 6.—Today's French newspapers almost unanimously bitterly criticize Premier Briand for consenting to meet and converse with Dr. Simons and Mr. Lloyd George, as he is reported to have done in London. The papers warn the public that this is an indication of a compromise with Germany on reparations.

Both the Temps and the Journal Debats, semi-official newspapers, point out that last Thursday Mr. Lloyd George gave the Germans four days in which to present a yes or no answer, and stating that otherwise the allies would begin military operations.

A member of the Quai d'Orsay staff, who returned to Paris by airplane from London this afternoon, states that Dr. Simons is doing everything possible to stall the reparations decision until after the plebiscite in Upper Silesia, which is scheduled for March 20.

I believe the Germans will offer a new plan which will require technical experts' opinion tomorrow, which, necessarily, must be referred to the reparations commission or to a special commission of financial and economic experts," he said.

"If this is done, the Germans will manage to procrastinate until it is known whether the Silesian mines and factories will remain German or become Polish."

TREACHEROUSLY SLAY MUTINEERS, HUNGARIAN REPORT

VIENNA, March 6.—Mutiny among members of the Hungarian garrison at Raab, resulting in the killing of two officers and the execution of thirty-one mutineers, is reported in dispatches received here.

According to the press accounts, the trouble started when flogging of several soldiers was ordered by Baron Ruess and Count Vay. Other soldiers protested and shot two officers, who had drawn their revolvers to quell the disorder.

The mutineers then barricaded themselves in their barracks and artillery was trained upon them. They are said to have surrendered upon receipt of an offer of immunity, but, according to the accounts, they were shot as soon as they gave themselves up.

The executed included two captains who sympathized with the mutineers.

FRENCH TROOPS QUELL RIOTS IN UPPER SILESIA

Germans and Poles Fight; 100 Hurt.

BULLETIN.
LONDON, March 6.—Information has reached well informed Polish circles in London, in connection with the Upper Silesian plebiscite, that German reichwehr troops have been concentrating near Arys and Loetzen, in East Prussia, since the middle of February.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

BEUTHEN, Upper Silesia, March 6.—As the result of numerous sanguinary street fights here today more than 100 men are in the hospitals with broken ribs and skulls. Today was the last Sunday before the martial regime which the interrelated plebiscite commission has announced to become effective March 9.

By 11 o'clock this morning feeling among the population ran so high that the French commander dispatched a battalion of infantry to maintain order. If further disturbances occur when the immigrant voters begin arriving next Tuesday from the interior of Germany, the new regime may be proclaimed as martial law, pure and simple.

Troops Restore Order.
Late this evening French troops occupy the principal squares, the railroad station, the postoffice, and other public buildings.

Early this morning a procession of German students and former soldiers appeared on the main thoroughfare singing German national songs.

Shortly afterward a crowd of German demonstrators headed for a theater where the Poles were holding a mass meeting. The theater became the scene of a free for all battle which ended until the French soldiers reached the spot. More than forty seriously wounded were seen unconscious on the pavement.

Pole Officer Braves Crowd.
The Germans then marched through the streets shouting "down with Korfanty," the Polish plebiscite commissioner. Korfanty, in an open car with only two guards, rode through the middle of the procession and not a hair was raised against him.

Polish workmen and French soldiers dispersed the procession, using fists and pistol butts. Some shots were fired.

FIGHT TO RESCUE 'NIGHT RIDERS' ENDS IN DEFEAT

Scottsboro, Ala., March 6.—Attempts of fifteen members of the Farm Tenants' union to release four of their fellow unionists from jail at Stevenson, near here, today resulted in a gun fight between the union members and about 150 citizens and officers. No one was killed or wounded, but five of the rescuers were captured and with the four original prisoners are locked up in jail here.

The original prisoners are said to have been caught ready to start a night riding expedition.

Fifteen from the Fabius settlement, the supposed headquarters of the night riders, rode into Stevenson today and opened fire on the officers guarding the jail.

Flying Game Wardens Get Hunters Shooting Ducks

Dixon, Ill., March 6.—[Special.]—Federal game wardens are using airplanes to run down violators of the closed spring season on ducks. Six hunters were arrested near Erie, in the Rock Island district yesterday. The wardens in a plane swooped down on the hunters, who were fined $35 each.

Hi Rents Don't Worry Here

Bennett's wallabies, Australian kangaroos, born in Lincoln park.

Nobody knows what a kangaroo thinks about. Nobody cares. The lady and gentleman in this picture are native born Americans. They live in a cage at the Lincoln park zoo. Their ancestral home is Australia. A few million years ago, back, say, in the paleozoic age, their precursors, and yours, gentle reader, were swimming about in some oozy swamp. And somewhere along the line they were differentiated, and this amphibian developed into a kangaroo and that amphibian into a man. And man will smile this morning at the picture of the ungainly kangaroo, who pays no rent, gas bills or income taxes. As has been said, nobody knows what the kangaroo thinks about.

JAP BUSINESS ASKS ARMAMENT REDUCTION PACT

Press Assails U. S. Stand on Yap.

TOKIO, March 6.—At meetings here of business men, similar to those held in other places, it was decided today to send a cable dispatch to President Harding and United States Senator Borah, urging them to use their influence for restriction in armament and also to request the Japanese diet to apply a part of the appropriation for armament to educational and social improvement.

Banji Muto, chairman of the principal meeting here today, said he feared that the adoption of the budget by the Japanese house of representatives without modification would cause a reaction in the United States in favor of armament.

Straw Vote Against Arming.
Of 7,000 postal cards distributed in Osaka, Kyoto, and Kobe, following lectures by Yukio Ozaki, leader of the Constitutional party, in favor of disarmament, 2,000 were returned. Of these 2,000 endorsed Mr. Ozaki's views on curtailment in armament and sixty were against them.

The newspaper continues today to comment on the refusal of the United States to accept Japan as the mandatory for the island of Yap.

The Yoruusu assails the United States for seeking to "repudiate decisions of the league of nations, of which it is not a member," by basing its claims on statements of President Wilson which "are not corroborated by the records."

The Asahi Shimbun dwells on the "audacious attitude" of the United States, which, it declares, long has been anxious for possession of the island of Yap.

The Kokumin Shimbun says: "If Japan offers an inch, America will try to take a yard."

A reported project by the United States to increase the fortifications at Guam, the Nichi Nichi thinks, will be a "serious blow to Japanese defense."

Favor Cut in Army.
The Jiji Shimpso says rejection by the house of representatives of the resolution of Yukio Ozaki for a curtailment in naval armament has caused the belief abroad that Japan advocates naval expansion.

"The people of Japan," says the newspaper, "will surely welcome any armament restriction proposal."

The Jiji Shimpso, a conservative organ of considerable influence, declares that Japan may have to rely on an international agreement concerning the limitation of naval armaments, but is able of its own accord to restrict army expenditures.

"The only drawback to the realization of this," says the newspaper, "is the predominance of the military clique."

SAILORS ASLEEP AS DEATH HITS U. S. DESTROYER

Fifteen Drowned; Others Fall in Sea, Saved.

San Diego, Cal., March 6.—Part of the story of the collision which resulted in the sinking of the United States destroyer Woolsey near Colaba island, off the coast of Panama, a week ago last Saturday, was given today by officers of the destroyer Stoddert, which has arrived from southern waters with the advance guard of the returning Pacific fleet.

Fifteen of the sixteen men reported "missing" in the early reports were drowned within a few seconds after the collision, officers said. This group, all bluejackets, was asleep in the after compartment of the destroyer.

Others Thrown Into Sea.
Several bluejackets, sleeping on deck, were washed overboard and were rescued by the destroyers Wickes, Philip, Aaron Ward, and Buchanan, whose officers threw the searchlight rays on the water and quickly located the imperiled men.

The collision occurred at about 1 a. m. Officers of the Stoddert said the night was clear and the visibility good. The big freighter bore down from the northeast and when about 1,000 yards away veered to the left to pass the Aaron Ward. Then, according to officers from the Stoddert, the Steel Inventor took a course to the right instead of steering through the double column of warships.

A few seconds later the freighter and destroyer were in collision, the freighter hitting the destroyer on the starboard quarter and smashing in her side and cutting her in two.

When the Steel Inventor backed clear the Woolsey's prow shot skyward. Its stern was awash as far forward as the after smokestack and it was reeling drunkenly in the heavy swells when the searchlights of other destroyers were turned on the scene.

By the time boats had been lowered to give aid to the men in the water the after end of the Woolsey had sunk. The forward bulkhead kept the Woolsey afloat until about 6 a. m.

Princess Anastasia Some Better; May Operate

ATHENS, March 6.—The "American princess," Anastasia, who has been suffering from a serious illness, is slightly improved, pulse and temperature at present being more favorable. Attending physicians have diagnosed the case as one of intestinal obstruction, which may necessitate an operation.

The princess is greatly debilitated through pain, loss of sleep, and inability to take nourishment, but the physicians now take a more encouraging view of the case.

The operating room in the palace has been made ready, but no decision will be made until the arrival of Dr. Hoover, the American physician, from Constantinople.

King Constantine and Queen Sophie daily visit Princess Anastasia.

Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, 8 Others, Seized as Radicals

Philadelphia, Pa., March 6.—Elizabeth Gurley Flynn of New York and eight Philadelphians were arrested here today when police stopped a meeting at New Garfield hall. The prisoners were given immediate hearings before a magistrate. Miss Flynn was held in $2,000 bail for trial on charges of organizing and originating a radical movement contrary to the laws of the state and possessing seditious literature. The others were held on other charges.

CHIEF OF CROWN FORCE IN KERRY SLAIN BY IRISH

Gen. Cumming One of Four Killed in Ambush.

CHICAGO, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Brig. Gen. Cumming, commander of the Kerry military area, was one of the two officers killed in the ambush of a military convoy in Clonbanin, the county, Saturday afternoon. Two privates also were killed. Gen. Cumming was president of the court of inquiry appointed to investigate the shooting of railwaymen in Malinbeg.

The belief is general that the ambush was prepared for Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Strickland, commander of the crown forces in Munster. Gen. Strickland was supposed to be returning to Cork yesterday from Tralee.

SHOOTINGS IN DUBLIN

BY JOHN LESTER.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1921, By The Chicago Tribune.)
DUBLIN, March 6.—There were three shooting affairs in Dublin this morning. A motor car conveying four Dublin men towards Malinbeg, apparently taken for a black and tan car, was attacked. Two of the occupants of the car, Joseph O'Dowd and John O'Neill, were shot dead.

As the military was riding through the street a bomb was thrown through a shop window and a little boy was wounded. Another shooting was reported in a row in Portland street.

The crown forces are carrying out their threat to blockade Tralee and close the district to submission by hunger. Two bridges were blown up by them yesterday, cutting off the line from the district which supplies provisions. There is only a few days' supply of food in Tralee.

CARDINAL URGES PEACE.
BELFAST, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Cardinal Logue, primate of all Ireland, in a letter to the viceroy of Armagh diocese makes an appeal for a truce in Ireland and suggests the forthcoming anniversary of the first national apostrophe as an opportunity for the return of peace to Ireland, pointing out that St. Patrick brought peace to the country. The cardinal says:

"What a reproach it would be should we sin by crime the luster of this glorious inheritance. It is no excuse that crimes even greater and more numerous have been committed by others, for crime does not justify crime."

"We shall not before the judgment seat be called upon to account for the crimes of the black and tans, or the auxiliary cadets, or the military, who have sacrificed so many innocent lives to the most futile pretense in their wild ride through the country. We shall not even be called to account for the blindness, obstinacy, and partiality of our present government."

Scores Both Sides.
Deplored the disregard for human life and property shown by both sides, which he declares threatens to reduce the country to a state of desolation and ruin. Cardinal Logue especially denounces the unprovoked and unprovoked attacks of soldiers and police in crowded thoroughfares.

"They who commit such acts know well that these armed forces will blaze away, indiscriminately, killing or wounding poor innocent victims, often women, sick, and children engaged in lawful occupations," the cardinal continues. "Lawyers, I think, say such acts, endangering the general public, involve malice against all mankind. Certainly all mankind should join in setting an end to them."

HARDING SPEECH "HIGHLY MORAL," OBREGON VIEW

Says Mexico Has No Criticism to Offer.

MEXICO CITY, March 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—As far as Mexico is concerned, President Harding's inaugural address contained nothing for criticism, President Obregon declared to the foreign newspaper correspondents this afternoon.

"The speech," he said, "was conceived in a splendid spirit for the people of the world; highly instructive and highly moral."

"Recognition," President Obregon said, "would not be urged by Mexico, but must follow as the inclinations of the several countries dictate."

Hasn't Heard Fall Plan.
President Obregon had received no official word on the American plan on recognition as outlined by former Senator Albert B. Fall of New Mexico, the new secretary of the interior, in a letter recently made public by the National Association for the Protection of American rights in Mexico.

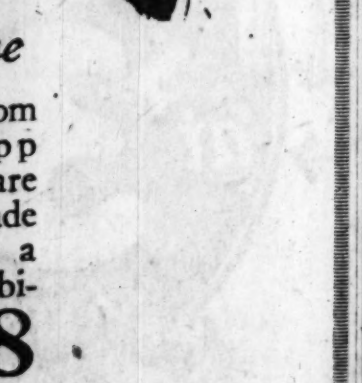

"Mr. Fall," President Obregon said, "can exert whatever influence he possesses with equal power either as senator or as a member of the cabinet."

Rumors that a British mission was on its way to Mexico were denied, but he declared a special claims commission which would look after the adjustment of claims from all countries, would probably begin operation some time during the present month.

Studying the People.
"His government," President Obregon said, "is trying to establish the working classes as small farmers and commission have been appointed to study all classes of Mexico's population with particular attention to the Indians."

"There are promiscuous uprisings," he said, "but none of a serious character."

"Mexico is not fond of war," he declared. "Mexico has become warlike because of necessity."

HARDINGS REST; CHURCHGOERS DISAPPOINTED

White House Grounds Thronged All Day.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., March 6.—(Special.)—With no conferences with any members of the new administration President Harding spent his first Sunday in the White House quietly.

Neither the president nor Mrs. Harding attended church this morning, much to the disappointment of crowds outside Calvary and First, the two largest Baptist churches in Washington.

With Senators Hale and Frelinghuysen, the president motored to Grasslands Country club, just over the district line in Maryland, for breakfast.

Mr. Harding has scruples against Sunday golf and he returned to the White House while players were arriving at the links. But the president, whose last golf match was in Florida, is determined to find time this week for a foursome.

Laddie Boy, a frisky Airedale terrier, that arrived at the White House yesterday, rode with the president this morning.

Airedale Subscribes Fealty.
In the words of Wilson Jackson, White House servant who was groom to Queen Roosevelt's pony, milkmaid to Pauline, President Taft's cow, shepherd of the Wilson sheep, and is now valet to Laddie Boy, "an Airedale knows only one master and in the president Laddie Boy recognizes his master."

Returning from Grasslands the president spent some time at the executive offices going over his mail before luncheon and in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Harding saw a few selected Marion callers and then went for an hour's automobile ride, trailed by a secret service machine. There were no luncheon and dinner guests other than members of the family.

Crowd Thronged Grounds.
Fair weather and Sunday brought out large crowds to take advantage of the opening of the White House grounds.

All day long there were groups of people around the north portion staring at White House visitors and craning their necks to peer in the windows. White House policemen were hoarse tonight answering questions.

It was noticed that some sightseers stood for hours under the portico, and, judging from the number of cameras carried and snapshots taken of relatives posing in front of the White House pillars, photographers will have an extra number of week-end films to develop tomorrow.

Not only were White House paths thronged with pedestrians, but it seemed as though every automobile along the end of Pennsylvania avenue turned in at the north gates and passed under the north portico.

Washington Has Auto Show.
Open cars, closed cars, touring cars.

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6. Repeal of the excess profits and other objectionable taxes, the reduction of the tax burden generally and simplification of the tax system, are the prospective results of revision of the revenue law at the forthcoming session of the Sixty-seventh congress, but the degree to which taxes can be reduced will depend on the margin of prospective revenue over prospective expenditures and such refinancing of government obligations as may be undertaken.

President Harding motored to the country club in the morning and later received callers and signed important papers, going for an automobile ride with Mrs. Harding in the afternoon.

Public investigation of railroad operations since the roads were returned to private control will be proposed by Senator Cummings of Iowa on the opening day of the special session of congress.

Instead of considering impeachment charges against Judge Landis, Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon league said today congress would better consider the cases of judges who are denouncing the law they are bound to enforce.

The Philippine commission here asks congress why the heart of America beats only for Ireland, Poland, and Czechoslovakia, and not for the independence of the Philippine islands.

Former Representative F. L. Smith of Illinois and Ira Robertson of West Virginia are among the candidates for appointment as internal revenue commissioner.

runabouts, stivers, and imported racers—the line of automobiles rolling through the White House driveway constituted a veritable exhibit of the development of the motor car during the last ten years. Even trucks and stripped cars from garages took the White House detour and stirred up clouds of dust. The only form of vehicle usually seen on Washington streets that continued along the avenue without turning in were the big sightseeing cars.

CABLE WARRIORS REST; W. U. SHIP UNDER GUARD

Subchasers Stand By "Captive" at Miami.

Miami, Fla., March 6.—The United States subchaser 329 arrived here today to join the subchaser 154, which yesterday halted work on the Western Union Miami-Barbados cable, by firing a shot across the bow of the cableship Robert C. Clowry, four miles off the coast.

The Western Union's ship was berthed tonight at the municipal dock awaiting further instruction, while the two chasers were standing by.

Captain Refuses Explanation.
Capt. H. M. Smith of the Robert C. Clowry refused to make any explanation of the cable ship's action. "I have to immediately after the shot was fired," he said, "and proceeded into Miami with the naval vessel, as it ordered me to do."

The cable, which was brought up here last summer by the British cable ship Colonia, has been left attached to a buoy. It was said yesterday that the buoy had sunk, being pulled down by the great weight of the cable.

Denby Declines Comment.
Washington, D. C., March 6.—The navy department today received a full report on the action yesterday of the commander of United States subchaser 154 in ordering a shot to be fired across the bow of the Western Union cable ship Robert C. Clowry at Miami, Fla.

Secretary Denby, after reading the report, declined to discuss the matter, declaring any comment would have to come from the state department. Officials of the latter department were equally reticent.

Orders issued by the navy department at the direction of President Wilson last summer to stop landing of the cable by force, if necessary, have not been rescinded so far as could be learned today.

RENT WAR SIGNS HALT TRAFFIC IN SHERIDAN ROAD

Two Doctors, Owner and Tenant, Air Opinions.

The rent war progressed from argument to the demonstrative stage on the north side yesterday and tied up traffic in Sheridan road for hours, during which time thousands of persons voiced their opinion of rent gouging landlords.

It all started when two physicians at 4518 Sheridan road, landlord and tenant, paid their compliments to each other through the medium of signs in their front windows. The contenders are Dr. L. C. H. E. Zeigler, tenant in the second apartment, and Dr. Joseph Watry, landlord, who occupies the first floor. Dr. Watry has raised the rent of Dr. Zeigler from $135 per month to $225.

Dr. Zeigler removed two windows from the front sun parlor yesterday morning and installed instead a large sign which reads as follows: "My Dear Dr. Zeigler: We all like you as a tenant because you are so very agreeable. I will make you my best offer, which is $135 per month. Please do not mention this offer to any one. Sincerely, J. Watry. Notice—Rent raised from $135 to $225."

The Landlord's Comeback.

In rebuttal Dr. Watry put a sign in his front window reading: "For Rent—Second floor, after April 30. Do not desire present tenant to stay thereafter, under any conditions."

Passing motorists stopped their machines. Traffic was soon at a standstill. Crowds congregated. In a few moments there were cries for Dr. Zeigler.

Three rousing cheers for Dr. Zeigler, yelled an enthusiastic man in the crowd.

"Yes," cried others. "We want Doc Zeigler. Bring him on. Speech! Speech! Hurray for Doc Zeigler."

Dr. Zeigler appeared in the window. This was the signal for a fresh demonstration. Dr. Zeigler stated his case and retired. More cheers followed and the crowd dispersed.

Tenant's Version of Case.

Dr. Zeigler charges he received the letter he quotes in his sign in the fall of 1919, and that later Dr. Watry demanded $150 a month for 1920-21. They compromised on $135, he says, and recently he wrote to Dr. Watry stating that as pre-war conditions had been resumed, he was enclosing a check for $135, his former rent. The check was returned, he says, and now Watry seeks to oust him.

Dr. Zeigler achieved much publicity about sixteen years ago, when he sued the estate of Mrs. James H. McKivier, widow of the theater man, for $100,000 for services rendered.

Labor Wars on Profiteers.

The Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday passed resolutions condemning profiteering landlords. The resolutions also directed the legislative committee to write a bill for presentation at Springfield and instructed the members to cooperate with the tenants' league if necessary to bring relief to renters.

A number of additional apartment buildings were organized yesterday by officials of the Chicago Tenants' Protective league. Announcement also was made that final plans will be completed today for the junket to Springfield on March 16, when the Kessinger bill comes up for hearing.

A BATTLE OF PLACARDS

ARDMORE KNEW ABOUT CLARA; IT SHOULD WORRY

Anything Jake L. Hamon
Did Was O. K. There.

BY BERT LOVE.

Ardmore, Okla., March 6.—"Did the people of Ardmore know Jake L. Hamon was living with Clara Smith Hamon?" is a question frequently asked of the writer since the Hamon tragedy.

They did know. When first I came to Ardmore, in November, 1918, I put up at the Randel hotel. One of the first things said to me by any resident was this:

"Jake Hamon and his nephew's wife are living at your hotel. You can see them eating together down in the cafe if you care to keep your eyes open." It was a matter of common talk. Ardmore seemed to take the situation for granted. During the fifteen months of my residence in this city I heard frequent mention of the propinquity of the oil man and his secretary.

Hamon a Name of Magic.

So far as I discovered, nobody seemed to care a continental where or how or with whom Hamon was living. "Miss Clara," as many persons called her then and call her now, rode about a great deal with the millionaire politician, by train and by automobile.

"O, it's Jake, so what's the use?" That seemed to be the prevailing note. The name of Jake Hamon had high magic in Ardmore. Many men spoke of it with a thrill in the voice. To the outsider it appeared that the smash through politician was an asset of which to be immensely proud. Admiration for his aggressive qualities.

In court the woman said, with tears rolling from her eyes: "I don't understand myself."

JAIL WEALTHY N. Y. WOMAN FOR THEFT MANIA

New York, March 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. Guy R. Chrysler, wife of the vice president of the Gram-Bernstein Sales corporation of 1475 Broadway, must begin tomorrow serving a fifteen day term on Blackwell's island. She was convicted of disorderly conduct following her arrest for "jostling" other women in a Fifth avenue department store. Detectives say she has been arrested several times and has a mania for taking other women's pocketbooks. Her husband said he had not known of his wife's alleged habits until the present arrest.

Wounded Senator Takes Breakfast with Harding

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Former Senator Henderson of Nevada, who was shot and slightly wounded in the forearm yesterday by Charles A. Grock, Takoma Park, Md., was able to take breakfast this morning with President Harding at Grasslands Country club, near Washington. Mr. Henderson suffered practically no ill effects from the shooting. Grock is in jail.

THE HESS FAMILY

For two generations has made furnaces—GOOD furnaces, and the third generation is coming strong in the same line. The first HESS FURNACE was round, with piled up castings and cemented cracks, like you find in common furnaces nowadays. Then came the square steel furnace, with seams riveted.

In 1912, when oxy-acetylene welding came in, came also the HESS WELDED STEEL FURNACE, every seam closed by riveting and then welding; as tight and seamless as a glass bottle—over a leak—sanitary, clean, safe. HESS Experience, HESS Service and family interest go into every one. You can buy direct, save money and get value rarely obtainable in these days of cheap money.

SOCIETY WOMEN DROP BRIDGE TO TAKE UP ORATORY

MRS. H. S. ROBBINS.

Oratory is gaining on bridge whist and may talk it (in society circles) into oblivion. Classes in public speaking and in parliamentary law are supplanting it.

Mrs. Henry S. Robbins has organized a public speaking class, which about thirty society women attend regularly. Mrs. George W. Flutner is instructor of a class in parliamentary law.

Not So Wealthy; Still—

There are those in Ardmore and elsewhere who believe Jake Hamon never really was a multimillionaire. They hold his actual wealth far below the figures commonly named. Events since his death appear to favor this view. His reputed wealth of more than a dozen millions in Oklahoma has dwindled to about $2,000,000.

However, about a month before his death he managed to borrow from the Standard Oil people $1,500,000 at 5 per cent to finance his new railroad in the Texas oil fields.

NEW YORK OPERA SEA ROUGH, BUT
MARY GETS AWAYWeathers Severe Eleventh Hour Storms.

BY JAMES WHITTAKER.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Mary Garden came into New York like a lamb and went out like a lion. The Manhattan Opera house on Saturday, the Kitz hotel today, and the Pennsylvania station from which the Chicago Opera company left for Baltimore, Philadelphia, and other points west on their spring road tour, all rocked and trembled with terrific storms of which Miss Mary, the manageress, was the center.

Booked for the eleventh hour solution on Saturday were several of Miss Garden's problems. The paper towels, for instance. And the Rosa Raisa row, and the legal wrestling match with Miss Morgan, ex-singer of her company, and, above all, the last tryouts for the opera "finds"—potential Galli-Curci, Caruso, and Rufus from Maine to Magdalena bay.

Forced to pay "Met" Bill.

The tryouts were interrupted when she found a business assistant awaiting with a sheaf of papers.

"If we don't pay for the paper towels, we'll have no home next year," said this palbearer of good tidings.

The paper towel trouble originated two weeks ago when a bill for the washroom supplies turned up in the mail of Mrs. Oscar Hammerstein, owner and manager of the Manhattan. Mrs. Hammerstein sent it to Miss Garden. Miss Garden sent it back to Mrs. Hammerstein. For two weeks the slip of paper, which concerned an item of $125, flew from office to office, finding its pigeonhole in none. Finally Mrs. Hammerstein spoke an ultimatum: "Pay this bill or take back your contract for next year in my opera house."

It served not that Miss Garden asserted strenuously that it was Mrs. Hammerstein's place as lessor of a "house and maintenance" to pay the grocery bills. On Saturday, Mrs. Hammerstein, being still adamant in the matter of the basement perquisites, Miss Garden walked. O, pay the "hated bill!" And that settled that.

Then Miss Rosa Raisa.

Of remaining troubles the Rosa Raisa matter was the most troublesome. The reporter who wrote this story had obtained an interview from Miss Garden earlier in the season for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in which Miss Garden was one of her "worst problems," for the reason that she "was ruining her splendid voice by singing not wisely, but too well." Reading this criticism, Miss Garden drifted into melancholy and the effect of Lavigne, David, M. Neuberger, who undertook to gain her revenge.

Mr. Neuberger gave out a statement in which it was claimed that Miss Garden had repudiated the statement in question.

The reporter maintained that Miss Garden certainly spoke as reported. Miss Garden claimed that she had nothing to say.

Signs Up, but—

Miss Raisa signed up for next year with Miss Garden.

No!

Today, when Mary Garden jumped into the taxi at the front door of the Kitz and her escort called, "To the station," she asked, "Is any one following us?"

"No," answered the escort, glancing furtively out of the cab's rear window.

"Thank the Lord they didn't think of that," murmured the maestra and settled back to enjoy her first restful silence in six weeks.

WHERE PANAMA AND COSTA RICA ARE AT WAR

THE HARBOR AT ALMIRANTE, one of the chief shipping points of the United Fruit company, reported captured by the Costa Rican forces.

WHILE U. S. WAITS
RIVAL ENVOYS
TELL OF BATTLESCosta Rican, Panaman
Give Own Stories.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Anticipated replies to notes sent yesterday calling on Panama and Costa Rica to cease fighting along the border and adjust their differences by agreement occupied the attention of government officials today. Replies may arrive tomorrow or Tuesday.

It is hinted that, should the replies be unsatisfactory, marines or Canal Zone troops may be used as an argument for ending hostilities. The United States is the guarantor of Panamanian independence.

Although neither had received word from the government during the day, diplomatic representatives of both countries gave out statements.

"Lions" in Those Countries.

Denial that Costa Rica planned a war of conquest was dictated by Octavio Beeche, Costa Rican minister, who has been ill for more than a week. He said Costa Rican troops had been overwhelmed by enormously superior forces while "fighting like lions."

Ricardo J. Alfaro, Panamanian minister of government, in Washington on a special mission, denied reports that Panama in one encounter had opposed Costa Rica with a thousand armed men.

"While the American note called on the two governments to settle the dispute without further bloodshed on the basis of the White decision, the door was left open for Panama to appeal from that award," Mr. Alfaro said. "The Costa Rican legation," the statement of its minister said, "has received official communications to the effect that Costa Rican troops on March 4 crossed the Sixola river, put the enemy forces to flight, and, continuing, captured Guabito after routing the Panamanian garrison, taking more than a hundred prisoners, and then driving back the enemy forces and taking Almirante and Bocas del Toro."

The Latin American Verdict.

"On the Pacific side an insignificant Costa Rican force was surprised on the last of February by a Panamanian army of 1,000 men, and, though defending themselves like lions, were forced in the end to yield to force of numbers, losing in dead during the action the valiant Col. Obregon and four soldiers and in wounded nine, while the rest of the troops were taken prisoner. The government has sent Señor Fernando Cabezas to take command in the region of Golfo Dulce."

"The Costa Rican government has furnished full guarantees to the United States representative in Costa Rica and has notified the legation in Washington and the state department that Costa Rica has no intention whatever to conquer Panamanian territory, nor to damage property, but it does purpose to obtain that which by treaties and arbitral awards belongs to it. In Costa Rica there reigns the most complete tranquility; the patriotic enthusiasm is unanimous, and the government has suspended constitutional guarantees of the people officially to obtain a proper censorship of the press and to prevent speculation in commodities necessary to life."

For Neighbors to Read.

SAN SALVADOR, Republic of Salvador, March 6.—Costa Rican troops attacked by Panamanian forces in the region of Golfo Dulce, on the western

IMMIGRANTS
RUSH BY POLICE
AT QUARANTINE

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Six new typhus cases broke out today among the suspects in the observation ward at quarantine. Three had arrived on the Italian steamer San Giusto about a month ago and the other patient was a steerage passenger on the steamer Kroonland, which arrived several days ago.

More than 2,500 immigrants who had arrived in Boston yesterday on the Manchuria detained at Grand Central station today and bowled over the police and health department guards who attempted to examine them, rushing pell-mell into the arms of waiting relatives and friends. The police and twelve health department inspectors were momentarily powerless, and later faced a puzzle in trying to separate the newcomers from their friends.

It was only when police threatened to make the whole crowd form in line and submit to an examination for typhus lice that the police finally got the situation in hand.

FIELD MUSEUM
OPENING DATE
SET FOR MAY 2

If Unasankh, the Egyptian mummy, were to rise from his mortuary bed in the New Field museum and set forth to stalk the African voodoo, as was his wont centuries ago along the Nile, he would be convinced ere he traveled far that he had awakened in the heaven of the gods. Serene, majestic and simple, it is a Greek temple and the "glory of Chicago."

The city's biggest moving job is finished and May 2 has been set tentatively as the date when the great white marble building will be opened to the public. The elephant that was discredited because his trunk could not pass under the overhead structures of the Illinois Central railroad between the old and the new museum, is all together once more.

Exhibits Nearly All in Place.
The sea shells and the many ton meteorite; the robin's egg and the sixty foot totem pole, and the thousands of other exhibits that made up 560 train car loads and filled a thousand auto trucks are swiftly being put into place. After the plumber has connected up the bath tub and lead pipe plumbing which were found deep in the ruins of Pompeii, everything will be in tip top shape.

Collections Worth $26,000,000.
The new home of the almost priceless collection of specimens of natural history has been built at an expenditure of about $6,750,000. The exhibit, it is estimated, could not be replaced at a cost of $20,000,000. The building is 700 feet long, 350 in depth, and three stories, or 80 feet, in height. Work upon an elaborate terrace will be commenced this spring.

President Stanley Field stated yesterday that the opening will be unceremonious.

HOSTILITIES END
BETWEEN FRANCE AND KEMALISTS

PARIS, March 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—Peace terms between France and the Turkish Nationalists are to be signed in Paris tomorrow. The terms have been agreed upon by Ismail Bey, the Nationalist delegate here, and his associate, Bekir Samy Bey, head of the Nationalist delegation in London, is coming to Paris tomorrow to affix his signature to the treaty. Hostilities have already been ordered stopped by both sides.

The evacuation of Cilicia by the French, which is the most important clause of the treaty, is made possible by Turkish acceptance of the London proposal for the protection of minorities and by the action of the Nationalist assembly in Angora in consenting to grant a high degree of self-government to the natives.

How to Avoid Waste
in Advertising!

Many firms begin advertising on a "hunch" basis. Before they realize it, moves are made and expenses incurred without plan or definite purpose.

To avoid waste in advertising consult an experienced accredited advertising agency at the inception of the advertising idea.

For seventeen years this fully equipped accredited advertising agency organization has been successfully co-operating with advertisers from their earliest steps. Many of our largest accounts have grown from modest beginnings. But they have grown because the advertiser began safely and then steadily worked by definite plan to a known objective.

We invite inquiry from intending advertisers.

FRANK L. SMITH SEEKING JOB AS SPONGEMASTER?

Robinson, Virginia, Also a Candidate.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(Special.)—The early appointment of a new commissioner of internal revenue, under whose jurisdiction the prohibition law is administered, is expected. There are many candidates for the appointment, among them being former Congressman Frank L. Smith of Illinois and former Chief Justice Ira Ellsworth Robinson of the West Virginia Supreme court.

It is surmised here that Mr. Smith's reluctance to accept the chairmanship of the Illinois public utility commission is due in part to his hope of landing the federal job, although before he could claim the plum he would have to obtain the endorsement of the Illinois senators, with whose political opponents in Illinois he is identified, and one of whom, Mr. McKinley, defeated him for nomination for senator.

Penrose Favors Change.
Senator Penrose favors sweeping changes in the machinery for the enforcement of the Volstead act. The plan includes revision of the Volstead act, eliminating prohibition enforcement officers and state prohibition directors. It would take enforcement from the internal revenue department and place it under the direction of the attorney general of the United States.

Calls Present Method Failure.
Senator Penrose said he regarded the present method of prohibition enforcement a failure. United States judges, marshals, and district attorneys would function under the new plan. Elaborate machinery created under the national prohibition enforcement director would be reorganized.

United States marshals would head the new enforcement agency, with the appointments being made by the attorney general's department. Liquor confiscated would be impounded under the direction of the courts.

ANOTHER QUAKE
U.S. KNOWS OF BUT CANNOT LOCATE

Washington, D. C., March 6.—An earthquake described as "pronounced" and estimated to have had its center about 2,100 miles from Washington, was recorded early today by the Georgetown university seismograph. Beginning at 2:36 a. m., the disturbance continued until 3:25 a. m., reaching its maximum intensity at 2:44 a. m.

"Near" at St. Louis.
St. Louis, Mo., March 6.—An earthquake lasting from 1:20 to 2:14 this morning, and apparently 1,600 miles away, was registered by the seismograph at St. Louis university. The disturbance reached its greatest intensity between 1:37 and 1:55.

Bathing suits and bathing caps will be in great demand in Evanston today as a result of an order issued yesterday by Swimming Coach Tom Robinson that all co-eds in Northwestern university must learn to swim.

Most of the university girls have learned to keep their heads above water, according to the coach, but he intends to make expert swimmers of them all, and to organize teams in each class to compete against other classes for the school championship. Miss Katherine Goodsmith, Miss Dorothy Rioch, Miss Esther Abbott, and Miss Virginia Bull have been selected to manage the senior, junior, sophomore and freshmen teams, respectively. All the teams will be under the supervision of Miss Jessie Wall, a senior.

Police Offer $500 for Proof of Flying Hootch Smugglers

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 6.—The police department has offered $500 to Frank Richardson, chief of the federal prohibition agents for the central states, if he will prove statements reported to have been made by him that airplanes loaded with whiskey come from Canada and land near the Soo.

WETS, DRYs SEEK HARDING'S VIEW ON PROHIBITION

Rulings Asked on Beer and Church Wine.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Regulations further restricting the distribution of liquor—now confined to manufacturers and wholesale druggists—have been drawn up and await the approval of the new administration.

The regulations as drafted by prohibition officials would limit manufacturers to the sale of their own products and forbid them to dispose of other manufacturers containing alcohol. Such a step would practically limit the distribution of liquor to wholesale druggists.

Protests against elimination of the wholesale liquor dealers have been made by representatives of the Catholic, Episcopal and Lutheran denominations, who declared they have been accustomed to purchase sacramental wine of a standard quality from the wholesale dealers.

The Case for Beer.
Elimination of the dealers, the churchmen declared, would cut off their source of supply. The internal revenue bureau will hear arguments early this week.

Disposition of the question of whether beer may be prescribed for medicinal purposes by physicians, prohibition officials said, also will come up for early consideration by the new administration.

The attitude of the new administration towards the breweries is awaited with interest in view of the campaign Commissioner Kramer has been waging against the manufacture of beer containing more than the legal amount of alcohol.

Another question for the new heads of the department to decide is the matter of transshipment of liquor via this country when shipped from one foreign country to another. On the pretext of the British embassy, the opinion rendered by the department of justice holding transshipment of liquor illegal and vessels touching at American ports with liquor aboard to be violators of the prohibition laws has been returned for review.

Does Drought Follow Flag?
In connection with the shipping angle to the prohibition question some prohibition officials have suggested the possibility of a new policy regarding liquor on American ships. Under the present law, as defined by the department of justice, prohibition follows American ships beyond the three mile limit and the sale of intoxicants on them is prohibited.

Strong protest against this interpretation, however, has been made by shipping interests, and Chairman Benson of the shipping board has informed the house that such a policy is injurious to the American merchant marine. For these reasons, officials asserted, the new administration will probably give careful consideration to the matter of divorcing liquor from ships.

FACTS HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED, BY DANIELS, COMING

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(Special.)—Former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, who returns to the newspaper profession as editor and publisher of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer, after eight years as head of the American navy in the Wilson cabinet, will soon make public "some hitherto unpublished dramatic facts of the navy in the war." It was announced here today.

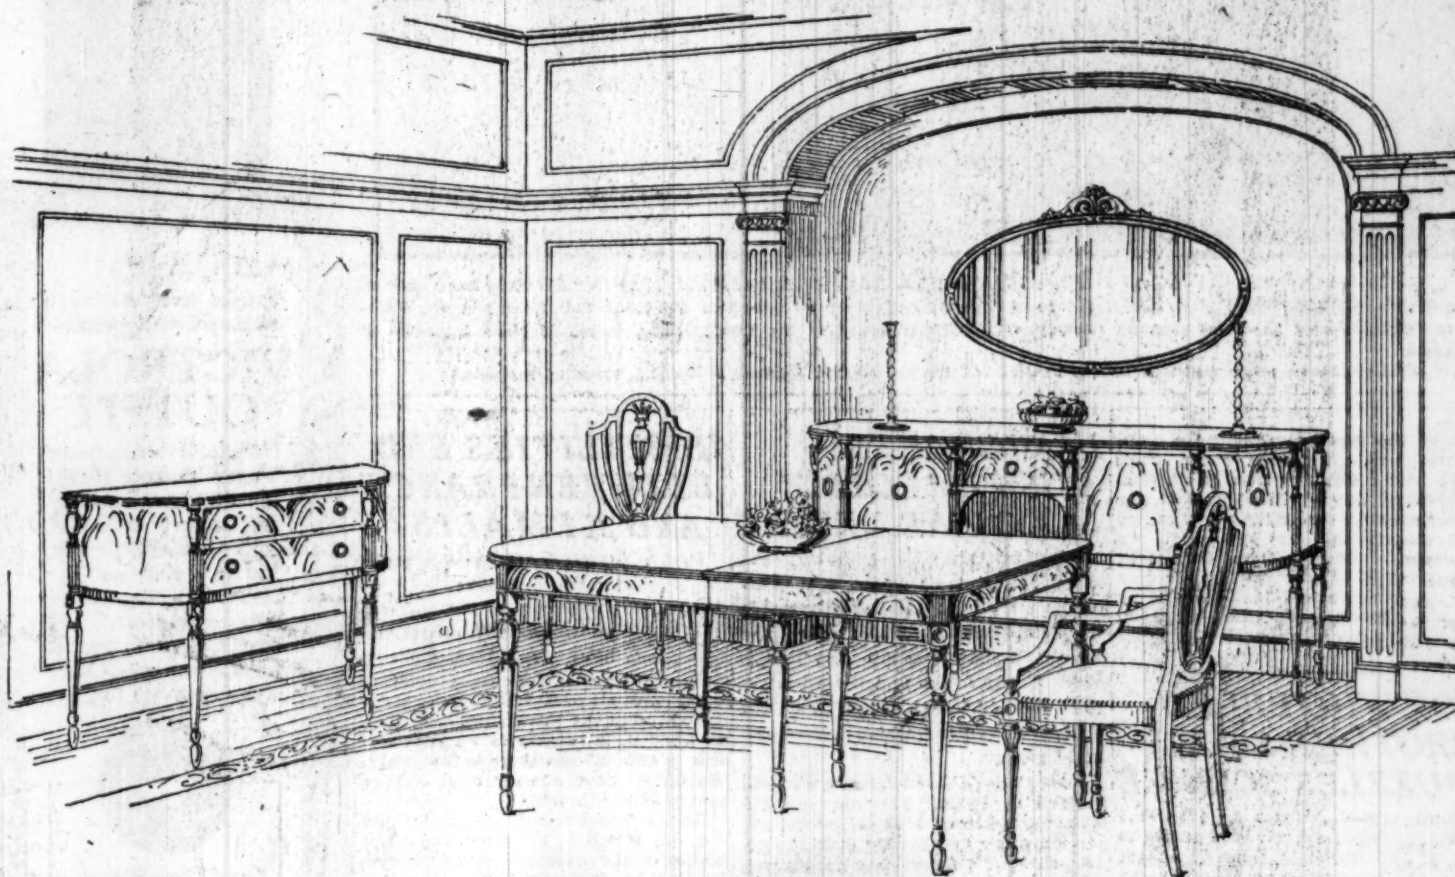

Mr. Daniels completed negotiations with the National Newspaper Service before his retirement from the cabinet to distribute his articles, the first of which will be released for publication within a short time. In the series Mr. Daniels will disclose some of the actions and operations of the American navy which during the war were held secret because of their value at that time to the enemy.

The former naval secretary also contemplates returning to Washington at the forthcoming session of congress, under the Harding administration, and will serve temporarily as Washington correspondent of his North Carolina publication.

Peoria, Ill., March 6.—Ray Trotter, 38, is dead, and Frances Minor, 13, lies unconscious at the Proctor hospital as the result of a double shooting early tonight at the home of the girl's mother, Mrs. May Miner, where Trotter was a roomer. The coroner says Trotter did the shooting as a 25 caliber automatic pistol was found near his body.

10 Pieces, $900—Reduced from $1,800

THE FALMOUTH is a creation for the finest dining room, a set like those that cultured Americans imported from Europe in the latter part of the eighteenth century.

At $900 for the complete set it is priced hundreds of dollars below even the present market and is typical of the opportunities now offered to effect very great savings in fine furniture.

Interior Decorations

The services of our Department of Interior Decorations are offered without charge or obligation and are accompanied by the full benefit of sale reductions.

The members of the Tobey staff stand at the head of their profession and are thoroughly versed in the planning and execution of the entire decorating and furnishing of a room or home.

By Their Works

The Cutler Shoe Company is the first, among purveyors of quality footwear, to effect a complete readjustment of prices to a pre-war basis. The result has been a tremendous volume of business for the Cutler store—a volume so great that during the January and February just past it exceeded that of any corresponding months in the 40 year history of the company.

Such overwhelming approbation on the part of a public, now fully awakened to the dangers of thoughtless buying, cannot fail to encourage sound, equitable merchandising and help restore individual and national prosperity. The Cutler value standard has become an authoritative investment guide to those who expect more for their 1921 footwear dollars. In shoes at Cutler prices is seen the actual commencement of a welcome era of easy, confident buying—an era that will continue so long as the consumer recognizes and supports those who, by their works, have shown themselves to be champions of right pricing.

THE PACKERS AND THE TEN HOUR DAY.Herman Kohlhaas used to comment upon any impending industrial controversy that "this is not a good time to strike."Any time last month or last year might have been, if not a good, at least a permissible time to strike, but the present always contains elements which make it a wrong time. We may not get the whole way with Mr. Kohlhaas's doctrine, but we can use his phrase with regard to the reported intent of the packers to establish the ten hour day in the stockyards industries.This is not a good time to go back to the ten hour day. It is the worst time in the world to go back to it. Under the war time agreements which united packers and their employees the eight hour day was established by Judge Alschuler, the federal arbitrator who adjusted issues between employers and workers in the industry.This agreement has been declared ended and the workers, through their organization officials, have declared their belief that the packers now intend to increase hours and reduce wages. A national conference of workers has been called for this week in Omaha and they are in a mood to resist the packers by strikes which will disorganize the industry.We repeat that it is a bad time to go back to the ten hour day. The unemployment situation in the country may find relief in the spring, but it is not now finding it, and its pressure is in the direction of the eight hour day.Basic conditions oppose a lengthening of the working day. Social progress is in the other direction and that general impulse now has the specific stimulus of special emergency factors in industrial life.

ILLIANA HARBOR.

Indiana has shown its enterprise by promptly legislating support of Gen. Judson's great project at Wolf Lake, Illiana Harbor. It is now up to the Illinois assembly, and we do not doubt that favorable action will be taken. The Indiana act has its counterpart in the Illinois assembly, the measure establishing an interstate harbor commission with rapid necessity.The Illiana project, for which present and future generations will have reason to thank Gen. William V. Judson, United States engineer in charge of the Chicago district, will give Illinois and Indiana the great harbor it now lacks, a harbor cap: a of expansion with the development of our industries and the growth of commerce and population of our interland. This could not be accomplished by an agency of either state acting alone, but the Illiana project will be in the hands of a commission somewhat like that of the port of New York, which represents both New York and New Jersey. Illiana Harbor will be the port of Chicago and the port of the northern Indiana and Illinois industrial district, which is destined to be one of the great manufacturing and distributing centers of the continent.The assembly should lose no time in doing Illinois' part toward getting the project under way.
After that the federal government will be asked to make the necessary appropriations.WAR AND AMERICAN OPINION.In the well high fruitless effort to induce the government and people of the United States to prepare for the ordeal which loomed darkly across its path, Leonard Wood was a prophet and leader.
As a part of the great service he performed he wrote a book entitled "Our Military History: Its Facts and Fallacies." It was a succinct and forceful statement of truths which our experience was promptly to verify. What Gen. Wood asserted, what he predicted, came true. It remains true today, although our government and our people remain, apparently, still blind to the tragic lesson.
It is therefore well that Gen. Wood has added a chapter briefly summarizing the lessons of the war and that his pregnant little book has been republished under the title, "America's Duty."The American people obviously need now, as they sorely needed before the war and in fact through all our history, the admonition of those who have attended the lessons of our experience and looked with clear eyes at the possibilities of our future.
Our people have persistently failed to do either, and their failure has been paid for in the blood of unnecessary sacrifice, in unnecessary waste of wealth, and in continuing danger. They have failed, and even now while the shadow of our future hangs over us and we are bowed under the burden it fixed upon our shoulders, we are failing again.American optimism and self-confidence, splendid qualities and sources of our strength and progress, have overleaped themselves in respect of the danger of war. Our intense preoccupation with the activities of peace, our abhorrence of the cruelty and waste of war, have conspired to betray our common sense. In private affairs so practical, we have been negligent and irrelevantly sentimental as to national defense and the possibilities of war.Whether we shall ever be otherwise, until we have suffered some terrific disaster, no wise man will predict. Up to this time we have been saved from a lesson drastic enough to impress us lastingly. We have been saved by circumstances for which we have not been responsible and which we have ignored and still ignore. The domestic politics and foreign relations of England which made success in the war of independence possible;
the European embroilments which saved us from humiliation in 1812; the balanced unprepara-ness of the civil war; the weakness of our adver-saries in 1846 and in 1898 which gave us relatively easy victories; and finally the assistance of our allies in 1917 which gave us time to prepare and their liberal contribution to our deficiencies, all have been and continue to be ignored by us, lost sight of in the glow of success.We do not know why we have won thus far in every war. We do not know the real factors of our success, much less the inordinate price we have always paid for what we were able to achieve.
We do not know the danger of our failure, our lack of forethought and common sense has kept alive throughout our history.This fact discredits American intelligence and American character. It should be abolished and it is the duty of those who realize it to do what may be done to abolish it. Certainly Gen. Wood, patriot and statesman, has done more than his share to that end. His book should be made required reading in every college and high school in the land.
It should be read by every teacher and leader of thought. Especially it should be read by every man who holds a seat under the dome of the capitol.

HELP HOME BUILDING.

It has been proposed to the mayor and council that a conference of labor leaders, employers, and material men be called to consider the practicability of making a cut in prices, at least for the building of private dwellings. The proponents, the Chicago Expert Builders, an organization of engineers, point out that some initiative is necessary to break the existing stalemate in the building situation.This Tribune agrees that whatever can be done to get building moving should be tried without delay. The dwelling problem is intolerable and unless soon relieved will have a very serious effect upon the prosperity of Chicago. The appeal to the mayor declares it is inconceivable that a conference would not bring results at least in the making of possible prices for home building, on grounds of humanity and public spirit. However that may be, enlightened self-interest likewise should remind all building interests, labor, local material men, and constructors, that their own hopes of profitable employment are directly involved in making conditions of living endurable in this community, to say nothing of the possibilities of building for business expansion.Chicago will go into a decline unless building for homes and for business is made possible. There is no law to compel people or industries or business concerns to come to or stay in Chicago. The city is in competition with many other cities which have advantages and attractions not to be despised.MONTREAL FOR THE BIG FIGHT.In Montreal Canadian bidders for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight say that arrangements can be made to conciliate the law and remove any legal objections to the one round bout there. There could be no other than legal objections, and if they are removable the ideal place for this two wallop contest has been found.It is particularly and variously attractive to Americans. Canada is delightful always and never more so than in July. About that time in these parts we have heat because of humidity. There they have humidity without heat. It is not a humidity one can splash around in, but it is sufficient to satisfy any reasonable citizen from a country which furnishes humidity only in its atmosphere.Montreal is the principal city of the province of Quebec and Quebec has many solvent habitants, true descendants of the old French, with their language, their habits, and a profound indifference to everything which uses the English language.They do not read American sporting pages and they never heard of Dempsey. They have all heard of Carpentier and they all have coin in the old mattress. Americans can go to Montreal, enjoy the climate, enjoy the humidity, see the quaint habitants, see the fight if they don't wink at the wrong time, and have all their expenses paid.The French Canadian is thrifty and has been saving money for a long time. He did not care for the war and is not in a very bad way because of
it. He is enthusiastic, and the only boxer he knows is Tommy Burns and Carpentier.These characteristics and ideas of the French Canadian make Montreal a very attractive place for the fight. The habitant knows that whoever Dempsey may be he will be knocked clear back to protoplasm as soon as Carpentier gets a chance to crack him one.If the fight is held there THE TRIBUNE will send an ample staff of reporters, specialists, photographers, and even an editorial writer. We presume that they will turn in fat expense accounts and we also are certain that all their expenses will be otherwise covered.Montreal is a much better place for the fight than New York. We see no advantages whatever in New York. The province of Quebec has a grand climate and charming people.

Editorial of the Day

"IT'S ME."

[New York World.]

Teachers and pupils of the Chicago public schools have been notified by the superintendent that they will not be reprimanded for saying "it's me" and "he don't." In the opinion of this school official, "it is I" sounds "stilted and even egotistical," and it is unwise to teach children expressions "outlived by common usage and a sense of good form."Schoolmastering the language, as Prof. Lounsbury termed it, is so generally restricted to insistence on the precise forms of correct usage that it is interesting to note any tendency toward liberality. What a superintendent of schools has to say on the subject of course is of importance except for the example of yielding in this instance to the inevitable. Chicago school children will continue to say "it's me" as they have said all along, and as millions of well educated people say, with only the difference that the expression is now "regular" under the Chicago ruling.As a matter of fact, "it's me" has never had the illiterate acceptance of "it's him" or "it's her." It has the warrant of time honored usage by people of refined speech. Perhaps modesty has had something to do with its vogue; perhaps there is an "egotistical" suggestion to "it is I." Chicago, whose official motto is "I will," doubtless has a delicate sense of the proprieties in modest usage.But will not "he don't" jar a little on the susceptibilities of purists? Chicago's school superintendent might profitably extend his inquiries into the licensing of colloquial expressions. What would his ruling be on "he ain't," which Oxford parsons in Trollope and all the quality use? A Chicago standard of permissible popular phrases would greatly interest the rest of the country.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the guys fall where they may.CHILDE HARRASS claims that he is fond of music, and we are happy to testify in his behalf, for once on a time he asked ye Missus to play Brahms for him. Of course he may have been (like Blanco Posner's brother when he sang his high note) lit at the time.Quite frankly, Sir: In looking over a book of Old English ballads we came across these Trollope lines:
"The ghost rapped full solemnly,
"O Mary, you must come with I."

than I am, Gordon Gini!"Extra! Extra! Bloody Murder of John Pope and the English Language!
[From the Marshall, Tex. News.]I, James A. Scott, being duly sworn, states as follows: We was in I. M. Wright's store when John and Abner Pope went through the store and they stopped on the back porch and I could see they was in row and I heard Ab Pope tell John A. Pope, "Do not deny it, you know you said it. We seen they was in a row. We started out there to see if we could stop the row and when I got about 10 feet from the gun fired and we went on out and Ab Pope came in and we stepped out on the porch and seen John Pope lying beside the steps partly under the floor with a bullet hole over his left eye.
"I FIND upon examination," says the director of the Winnetka community house, "that 'Twin Beds' is hardly the title I believed it to be from the title." True, one can't always guess a thing from its title. We thought "Twin Beds" was a nursery tale.INFORMATION WHILE YOU WAIT.
Sir: There is no "Lord Verulam" in history.
Baron Verulam was Lord Bacon.
I. M. METICULOUS.Sir: . . . I believe you referred to him as Lord ly attached for some time.

"My second job," pursued the bellhop, "was in the office of a weekly journal, the character of which I can't differ from the one I am now writing. It derived its income not so much from what it printed as from what it arranged not to print.
The editor was supposed never to be in, unless to casual visitors, and I was so instructed, yet I was obliged to reply truthfully to the first inquirer.

TOWERMAN ON THE PORTER WRECK.

ago, March 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I noticed in "The Voice of the People" a paragraph written by a Johnston, stating that all railroads should grade crossings, and eliminate any other wrecks in the country. To do this, grading would have to start a mile or so on each side of the crossing, and a person who is not experienced in railroad experience cannot estimate what expense that would be to achieve a thing at from ten to fifteen cent places in every 100 miles, behaving a continuous up and down instead of a "water level route".

works like these usually come from misinformation. To a towerman with experience many of the arguments heard on street cars, street corners, and in the newspapers, are ridiculous. I one fellow says there should be a that would require all trains to stop crossing an interlocking plant.
would require about one hour more every 100 miles. Would there be twenty hour trains to New York or even hour trains to St. Louis?

ve seen trains approach one of my expecting to get it cleared for my moment, but I didn't do it, be-I couldn't on account of having the cleared for the other road, and quently off the derail he went.

ve heard some one say that the York Central hit the busser before Michigan Central did, and the latter limb to the crossing. That is northwest. A towerman can't tell which running the fastest at that distance. There is another thing—there is priority of direction, too. North bound trains have the right of way over south bound trains of the same class.

one road it is the reverse. This have been the reason the New York Central got the right of way in preference to the other road, although both are first class trains.

also are guard rails placed instead of the main rail, similar to the timbers on the elevated, and these extend from the derail to from 200 feet toward the crossing. In a derailment this rail holds the train in the ties and prevents it from going into the ditch. A train going north an hour will stay on the ties and the track for a considerable distance. It is not impossible for such a train to run out onto the crossing traveling at such a high speed.

Michigan Central train was bearing upon the New York Central train from the fireman's side of the engine, which would prevent the fireman from seeing the train until it was across ahead of him. The train might at that time have been in a fire. This we will never know.

CONGRESS FACES URGENT TEST IN TAXES, REVENUE

Can Nation Lower One, Then Live on Other?

Purpose, the interest on the $10,000,000 owed the United States by European nations. Presumably by that time these debtor nations will have resumed payment of the $500,000,000 annual interest. This item of half a billion dollars is not being considered in the computations being made in connection with the forthcoming revision of revenue laws. The bonus could be financed out of this sum if spread over a period of years.

Pre-War Expense Level Gone.
In considering government expenditures there appears no possibility of ever returning to the level of pre-war years. The interest on the public debt alone amounts to approximately $1,000,000,000 a year, which is more than the entire annual budget totaled formerly.

With this single exception of the year 1915, at the close of the civil war, the fiscal year 1917 was the first in which ordinary disbursements, which do not include payments for the postal service, exceeded $1,000,000,000. The total for the fiscal year 1915 was $1,285,989,129, and in 1917, $1,477,898,991. In the fiscal year 1918 the total amount paid to $1,964,722,265, and in 1919 to $1,965,262,712. Ordinary disbursements for the fiscal year 1920 amounted to $1,614,745,240. Up to March 1 of the present fiscal year, including eight months, or two-thirds of the year, ordinary disbursements amounted to $3,247,295,635.

How Expenditures Have Grown.
Following the civil war period expenditures dropped to considerably less than half a billion annually, the low point being reached in 1873, when the total was $234,964,327. The total continued under the half billion mark until 1899, when it mounted to $605,021,180. Between 1900 and 1910 ordinary expenditures ranged annually from $500,000,000 to $600,000,000. The smallest total during the last decade was in 1911, when it amounted to $652,127,598. In 1914 the total reached $700,444,490; in 1915, $731,399,769, and in 1916, $724,402,999.

Expenditures for the postal service, which are not included in what are classed as ordinary disbursements, were less than $50,000,000 up to 1885, and continued under $100,000,000 until 1919. The annual total passed the $500,000,000 mark in 1908 and went above $600,000,000 for the first time in 1916. The $400,000,000 mark was exceeded for the first time in the fiscal year 1920 and the $500,000,000 mark will be passed in the current fiscal year of 1921. Postal appropriations made for the fiscal year 1922 also are in excess of $500,000,000.

Charges 90 Per Cent Up to War.
About 90 per cent of the expenditures for the fiscal year 1920 were directly traceable to the war, to past wars, and to preparation for future wars. Included in the 90 per cent were $1,020,000,000 interest on the public debt, $1,611,000,000 for the war department, $736,000,000 for the navy department, $1,037,000,000 for federal control of railroads and payments under the guaranty, $321,000,000 for the shipping board, $421,000,000 for the purchase of obligations of foreign governments, $213,000,000 for pensions, $117,000,000 for war risk insurance, and $2,000,000 for farm loan bonds.

War expenditures similarly accounted for the bulk of the appropriations for the fiscal year 1921, which were made a year ago, and in those just made the percentage is still high.

MAYPOLE, FACING CONTEST, ASKS BOND RECOUNT

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Ald. George M. Maypole, whose reelection has been questioned by Daniel G. Gerst, the Lundin-Thompson candidate, suggested yesterday that the contest be enlarged to include a recount of the ballots on the $8,000,000 bond issue cast in the Fourteenth ward.

"If the ballot boxes are to be opened, why not count the votes on the bond issue?" he said. "Who could possibly object to a verification of the majority given the bond issue in my ward? It would add nothing to the expense and take but little more time. I am perfectly willing to recount the ballots on aldermanic, if the ballots on the bonds are also recounted."

"Because we had neither judges nor clerks, I can't imagine there was a single vote counted in my favor to which I do not object to the contest, except for the inconvenience and expense, but I will waive these if the votes on the bond issue are recounted."

Vote in 14th Ward.

The vote for alderman in the fourteenth ward was as follows:
Ald. George M. Maypole, Dem. 5,936
Daniel G. Gerst, Lundin-Thom. 5,283
H. W. Harris, Socialist 486

Maypole majority 1,653
The bond issue vote was:
Yes. No.
Men 3,739 3,465
Women 1,540 1,666
Total 5,279 5,131
Majority for bonds—148.

"I feel confident the voters in the ward were against the bonds by ten times that figure," commented Ald. Smith, colleague of Ald. Maypole. "I would like to see the votes on the bond issue carried by a majority of 13,740, which is a precinct average of less than six and one-half votes. I don't believe that happened in the Fourteenth ward."

Smith, colleague of Ald. Maypole. "I would like to see the votes on the bond issue carried by a majority of 13,740, which is a precinct average of less than six and one-half votes. I don't believe that happened in the Fourteenth ward."

Would Count Spoiled Ballots.
Ald. Maypole said he did not know the official reasons assigned for bringing the contest. He went on: "But in the ward it has been rumored that the basis of the contest is a contention that all spoiled ballots must be counted whether I received a majority. I have attempted to engage Attorneys Francis X. Busch and James Fardy to look after my interests."

If the county judge orders the votes recounted for aldermanic candidates and Maypole is declared to lack a majority, he will be compelled to run again against Gerst in April. Also, if there is a recount of the bond votes in this ward and it shows a material difference from the official figures, there may be a popular demand for a recount of the bond ballots in all wards.

LAY OFF LANDIS; GO AFTER OTHERS, WHEELER'S PLEA

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Instead of considering impeachment charges against Judge Landis, who gives offenders plenty of action, congress would better give some attention to judges who condone lawbreaking, in the opinion of Wayne Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon league.

"If congress takes up seriously any impeachment charges against federal judges it ought to include those judges who are denouncing the law, which, under their oath, they are duty bound to support and enforce," said Mr. Wheeler. "Such officials give encouragement to lawbreakers, while judges like Kenesaw M. Landis are a terror to law violators, regardless of what people think of his connection with the baseball incident."

'GHOST' SHIP IS WRECKED AFTER CREW VANISHES

Sanford, N. C., March 6.—A grim specter stood unseen at the helm of the small schooner Carroll A. Deane when it cleared Rio de Janeiro harbor last December, riding light, and sailed out to sea with Norfolk port to make via the Barbados.

The ship was tough and trim from track to keelson, sound throughout and no more than sweetened to the eye of the sea by its year off the building stocks. A stout New England skipper, weathered to all the gales that blow, trod the quarterdeck. Above him, sound canvas towered away to the five great masts that drove more than a thousand tons through the water on air that no more than fanned the cheek.

Ghost Ship of Shoals.

Today it is "The Ghost Ship of the Diamond Shoals," its bones bleaching in "the graveyard of the Atlantic," its master and crew vanished, no man knows where or why. It has added one more page to the sea's great book of mystery.

There is no record of the Deane's last voyage. It sailed full handed, thrilling with life and power. A month later it staggered blindly shoreward, alone by night, to ram its way to a last berth on the shoal. No hand tended the wheel; no man stood to clack a sheet or spill the wind from the tortured canvas to ease the death struggle. It was a dead ship. No living thing saw its end.

None Saw It Strike.

Sunset was drawing down the gloom of night on a Sunday evening when patrols from the life saving station looked their last for the day across the storm-fretted shoals. The surges ran white over the lurking menace of the sands, headstons with relics of many a stout craft. But there was no sail in sight. The wide reach of sea beyond was empty in the gathering gale.

In the morning, the Deane lay before them in the grip of the sand, its canvas set and slitting to ribbons in the wind, its boat gun hammering overboard, its boats and its people vanished. All day the life-savers sought to reach it. Some of the crew might still be aboard. Time and again they were beaten back by wind and sea and it was a day later before it was known positively that it was an empty ship, stripped of all life before it had plunged into the death trap.

No Claw to Missing.

There was no mark on the boat to show why it had been abandoned. It was apparently undamaged until the wind and sea and sand had their will of it and slowly ripped it timber from timber, on the shoal. Under the drive of its sails the ship was buried beyond the power of tugs to pull it out.

And in the weeks that have passed not a word has come to tell what became of the crew. No body has been washed up; no remains of lifeboat or clothing has come ashore.

FRAT NEOPHYTE TAKES HIS FEARS TO POLICE DESK

O. for the life of a freshman! A youth ran breathlessly into the Evanston police station yesterday and introduced himself to Sergeant Johnson as a student at Northwestern university.

"Arrest me," he said. He appeared frightened.

"For what?" snapped the sergeant. The youth stammered for a time, then declared himself a "chicken thief." The desk sergeant was incredulous, and questioned the troubled youth, who finally admitted he feared to return to his fraternity house.

"It's initiation week," he explained, "and I'm afraid to tell the boys I failed in an errand they gave me."

And they wouldn't look him up.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH ROADS? IS CONGRESS QUERY

Cummins Wants Another Investigation.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., March 6.—(Special.)—Public investigation of railroad operations since the roads were returned to self-government will be proposed by Senator Cummins of Iowa upon the opening day of the special session of congress.

Senator Cummins will ask that the committee on interstate commerce, of which he is chairman and which framed the transportation act, shall make the investigation. That something is wrong Senator Cummins believes is apparent. But congress and the country are unable to tell exactly, and he insists that both must know, if there is to be removal of the mistrust with which the public has come to regard the whole question and if congress is to determine properly what can be done to relieve the situation.

Owners and Men to Be Heard.
If the present financial embarrassment of the railroads is due to mismanagement and extravagance that should be disclosed, Senator Cummins says. If it is due to causes entirely beyond the control of the railroad managers, he is desirous that those causes should be discovered. His program therefore calls for a hearing of the railroad operators and of the railroad employees and both will be given full opportunity to express their views and present all facts in their possession.

Recently Senator Cummins declared that unless the railroads could be made self-sustaining government ownership was inevitable. He is very desirous that such a development should be averted if possible, and the investigation is certain to have a most important bearing upon the main issue, inasmuch as it should demonstrate whether better conditions are to be expected under the present system of operation or if some new system must be devised.

Must Change Classification.
Prior to the investigation and the ascertainment of facts upon which conclusions may be based, Senator Cummins is not willing to venture any opinion as to how the transportation problem may be solved. It is the general opinion of the members of the interstate commerce committee that there must be a change in the classification of railroad employees and that some of these employees must be subjected to reductions in pay.

William G. McAdoo put the present classification into effect while the railroads were under his control. He recognized no distinction between the employees who perform only intermittent service at way stations and those who are kept constantly employed in the larger towns and cities.

It is estimated that of the tremendous burdens which McAdoo imposed upon the railroads several hundred millions were needlessly and improperly imposed through his erroneous and extravagant adjustments of the pay of unimportant railroad workers.

It is the expectation of the senate committee that by the time the proposed investigation is started the railroad wage board will have acted upon the questions now before it, and that something definite will have been done both with respect to classification and the wages of employees.

The committee, however, is not optimistic over the outlook for any immediate betterment of conditions.

Bruner, supervisor of special schools. The couple met two years ago, when Miss Parkhurst sought employment in Dr. Bruner's department. They met accidentally last summer in Estes Park, Colo., where both spent their vacations. Miss Parkhurst also is director of dramatics at the Avlon and Warren school community centers. ## RAIL STRIKE IN SOUTH CALLED "PURELY LOCAL"

Jewell Says It Will Not Affect Others.

Macon, Ga., March 6.—Railroad crafts throughout the southeast, according to information obtained tonight from union sources, have started taking a strike vote. No immediate walkout on railroads in the southeast, in sympathy with the employees of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, is contemplated, it is said, but the labor leaders desire to know how the men stand for the purpose of determining future action in the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic matter.

With approximately fifteen hundred employees on strike and with every train standing idle, B. L. Bugg, receiver of the A. B. & A. railroad, announced at Atlanta tonight that arrangements were being made to employ new men and resume regular schedules as soon as possible.

Declaring the strike detrimental to the public interests, the United States board of mediation has tendered its services to bring about an agreement between Receiver Bugg and the striking employees.

Commissioner Chambers and Assistant Commissioner Klutz will arrive here tomorrow to begin negotiations.

NOT OF NATIONAL SIGNIFICANCE
The strike on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railway, a short line now in the hands of a receiver, is "purely local" and without any national significance, prominent railway officials and chiefs of the railway unions announced here yesterday.

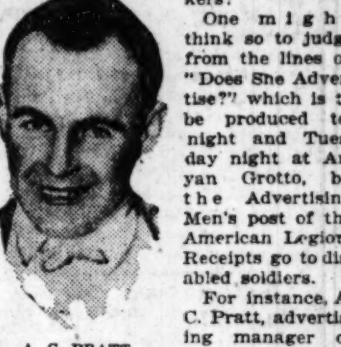

B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, said he had men in Atlanta watching the case, but they had made no official reports.

Acted Independently.
"I do not think, however, the wage dispute of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic can have any bearing on the roads generally," he said.

Railway officials said the A. B. & A. had acted independently when it made a wage cut of 50 per cent, which brought on the strike. The outcome of the controversy will not affect other roads, they insisted.

NONUNION STAGE ART PASSES IF EQUITY ENDURES

New York, March 6.—Members of the Actors' Equity association have expressed overwhelmingly in favor of an equity shop, it was announced today when the result of balloting on the question was made public. The vote stood 3,398 for and 115 against. The balloting has been going on by mail for about six months.

Two thousand members of the association, at a meeting today, unanimously voted to insert in the constitution a clause to the effect that membership in the Actors' Equity association would never be limited, and hope was expressed by John Emerson, president, that within a year every actor in the United States would be a member of the association.

Methods of enforcement of the equity shop were left in the hands of the executive council.

ROCKNE OPPOSES RADICAL CHANGE IN GRID RULES

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Asserting he is not in favor of any radical changes in the football rules, Knute Rockne, coach of last year's undefeated Notre Dame eleven, yesterday for New York to attend the meeting of coaches and officials called by Coach Charley Daly of West Point for today.

According to Coach Rockne, the Army gridiron mentor will ask for expressions of opinion from all present relative to hitting upon some ideas to be suggested at the annual meeting of the rules committee next Saturday. Coach Daly sent notices of the meeting to coaches throughout the country, but as far as is known, Rockne is the only representative of the middle west who will attend.

Wants No Radical Changes.

"I am not in favor of any radical changes," Rockne said yesterday on the train coming to Chicago from Urbana, where the Illinois rivalry was decided Saturday night. "The public, which supports the game, understands the rules as they govern play at the present time, and I see no good reason to change them."

"I am set against the idea of determining length of games by the number of plays. Such a move would tend to slow up the game fearfully, as there would be a conference of the team in possession of the ball after every formation. We would have to start our contests much earlier, and there would not be the action, which the public is so fond of."

Likes the Unexpected.

"I am not in favor of Coach Yost's suggestion that a fumbled ball go to the team at the spot of recovery, and no run be allowed. It is this unexpected which keeps the spectators so interested, and I am not in favor of doing anything which might decrease this interest. From the beginning of the season until it closes coaches harp on the necessity of holding on to the ball, and if any team fumbles it should take the consequences."

"I do believe, however, that some action should be taken regarding tackling the ball. There are a number of teams in the middle west which go after the ball or the arm encircling it, which is unsportsmanlike, and should be penalized accordingly. The forward pass cannot be improved upon, nor can any other feature of the game. I am going to stand pat for the game as it is now played."

Says Yost Has Right Idea.

Charley Bachman, former coach at Northwestern, who is now developing football and track teams at Kansas Aggies, disagrees with Rockne on the fumbled ball.

He asserts Yost has the right idea of giving the ball to a team on the spot of recovery, but he does not believe the rules should be changed in any manner which may detract public interest.

knocking out others for five years. Too much expected of Martin—that's all. Give him a chance.

INDIANS ARE FIGHTERS.

Indian blood is fighting blood. There's Indian blood in many of the best ring men produced in this country.

Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, is of an old Virginia family, and about a hundred years ago one of his ancestors married an Indian chief's daughter. There may be more of a trace of Indian than in Dempsey, as there is in many families in his part of the country.

The Indians in Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and up through New York state were a brave people of many virtues. In early days the frontiersmen frequently married Indian women, and many members of old American families, like Dempsey, are proud to claim that the American part of their line was an "old family" here long before Columbus landed.

Carl Morris, the game Oklahoma freeman who came fighting his way to the championship, is part Indian.

Jess Willard's high cheek bones and hawklike eye, as well as the shape of his head, are said to show Indian blood. Willard's ancestors were Virginians, like Dempsey's. The Jeffries family had its plantations in Virginia for more than one hundred years. In many ways Dempsey, Jeffries and Willard are of the same physical type.

Tommy Ryan, former middleweight champion and a great fighter, is said to be part Seneca Indian.

Joe Rivers, who came within an ace of detroning Volgaist for the lightweight title, is of Spanish-Indian blood. So was Aurelio Herrera, the hardest hitting lightweight that ever put on a glove.

Jim Barry, who used to knock Sam Langford over now and then, was half Irish and half Sioux. His brothers still live on the Sioux reservation. Among other noted fighters of a few years ago was Joe Gregg, a Plute.

Joe Gans, greatest lightweight champion in many years, was said to have a trace of Indian blood. Gans showed in his high cheek bones and high nose. Gans was often spoken of as an Arab because his profile was more that of an Arab for an American Indian than of an African.

A FAST START.

Charlie Paddock seems to be going out after that 9:25 record for the hundred that Bernie Webers said he could make if he perfected his running form. Paddock ran his first "century" of the 1921 season in the Western Relay meet at Pasadena, winning in 9:25 seconds. So far as my recollection goes, it was the fastest first race of a season ever run. Charlie says he "hasn't begun to run yet."

CHALLENGERS ARE SAFE.

When Jack Dempsey goes to England it will be for the first time since he met the Frenchman. Dempsey's contract for the Carpenter match doesn't allow him to hit anyone outside of America before he meets the Frenchman. (Copyright 1921: By Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

FARM and GARDEN

HEAD LETTUCE.

There are probably more failures among small gardeners in their attempts to grow head lettuce than in the raising of any other vegetable. Season after season home gardeners have failed, and now most of them have turned the job over to the commercial grower. The amateur can grow crisp lettuce-heads if he will study the plant's requirements and supply its needs. Neglecting to sow the seed early is a common cause for failure.

Lettuce must be grown in cool weather, and if the starting of the plants is delayed until it is warm, the heads do not usually have time to form before hot weather.

It is always doubtful, in sections this far north, whether the heading of lettuce will be successful if the plants are not started under glass and transferred to the open. The seed should be planted in hotbeds or started in boxes in the house six weeks before setting them out.

Editorial

I never felt happier than I feel right now when I realize that I can give every one of my customers the greatest high class merchant tailoring—made to order—values I have ever seen.

Listen, Men! I am a merchant tailor. My success depends solely on the satisfaction I give to you. I am sorry that Howard & Walton were forced to the wall, but I am glad that I had the cash which enabled me to buy their fabrics at such a price that I can make to order suits for $39, $49 and $59 which otherwise no man could get for less than $85 to $175.

Every bolt is tagged. I invite you to come in and be your own salesman. Select your own goods. Bring your wife, mother, sister or daughter, or all of them. Suits from bolts carrying red tags will cost you $39 and will save you from $46 to $61. Suits carrying green tags will cost you $49 and save you from $61 to $71. Suits carrying yellow tags will cost you $59 and will save you from $71 to $116.

I will give you the best that the best cutters, tailors and fitters can produce and if you are not satisfied I will refund your money.

ROUNDUP TRAPS FIVE IN $50,000 MAIL ROBBERY

Stolen Car Used by Gang
May Provide Clue.

Although five suspects arrested in connection with the kidnapping and robbery of a United States mail car from the Chicago avenue station yesterday, police are doubtful if any material progress has been made in the case.

Records of the vehicle bureau show that three Paige cars, with white or yellow wheels, similar to the car used by the bandits, have been stolen since Jan. 1. Police believe one of these cars is the one used in the holdup.

Loss Not Over $50,000.

Postal authorities in the Halsted street and Lincoln park substations were busy checking up the value of the registered letters lost. No definite figures could be obtained, but postal authorities declared the loss positively would not exceed $50,000.

Several additional arrests in Chicago and Toledo, Ind., were promised by post-office inspectors working on the arrest in Waukegan, Saturday of James O'Connor, Michael O'Connor and Michael O'Connor.

Questioned by Toledo Sleuths.

J. Carroll, a Toledo detective, arrived in Waukegan, and immediately questioned the two men. Afterward he had uncovered several developments, but declined to state what they were. The two men are being held incommunicado.

Not Bad, "The Night Boat"

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

Planning a visit to the Colonial to see "The Night Boat," you must be curious, if you are of the middle west, to know what a night boat is.

A night boat, they tell me, is a froward little craft, which, breasting a surge of water, carries a cargo of romance bent. Purple are the sails as the night boat's sails as those of Cleopatra's amorous barge, and as it plies the dark and noble river, it unfurls its tinted canvas to winds perfumed and love-sick.

To those accustomed to the navigations of Lake Michigan and other virtuous inland seas, this ship and its contents may seem to be a bit questionable, or off-color; and you may suspect that a play named for it is likewise. But take heart or lose it, as your inclination may be. "The Night Boat" at the Colonial is merely a nifty, handsome frolic, emphasizing inoffensively with song, dance, quip and clowning the suspicion that this is a naughty world; that infidelity has its amusing aspects, and in New York one may be excited and happy though unfaithful to one's household.

Mr. Jack Hazard, who wrote the salubrious testament, "Turn to the Right," is the bad boy of "The Night Boat." Eager to spend week-ends away from his wife, the pretty, though somewhat assiduous Miss Stella Hoban, he

A Mannerly Frolic at the La Salle

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

You remember William Morris, of course. How long ago was it we saw him in "The Burgomaster" and "Babes in Toyland?"

Well, never mind. Here he is again—a benignant elderly kewpie, trim and skittish as ever, cutting his genteel capers like somebody out of something by Dickens. He is the proprietor of our comedians, and the censor will never get anything on William Morris.

One wonders what George V. Hobart thought about the first time he saw the kindly William in "Kissing Time," the play that came last night to the La Salle. "Kissing Time" clearly was intended by Mr. Hobart to be rather naughty. All about Paris, and Mimi, and Polydore Cluquet, a middle aged roue whose idea of finesse is to promote aspiring hawk eyes and keep them at work evenings so that their pretty wives may be left the more alone.

Reprehensible as a play it sounds in the telling, but they cast Mr. Morris as the ardent Polydore, and it was all off. When he beams paternally upon the coy Miss Edith Taliaferro, the object of his affections, and cracks a Hobart joke or two, the atmosphere is approximately that of your Thursday night sociable when the pastor is cutting up. Librettists must have their disappointments.

Mr. Hobart had his coming, however, for "Kissing Time" is in fact chiefly as an example of how dreary

ROBBERS SHOOT 2 MEN; THIRD MAN DYING AFTER ROW

Two men were shot by robbers, fourteen automobiles were stolen, several important arrests were made, and the police blotters showed a slight increase in thievery yesterday.

Frank Powers, 35 years old, 138 North Taylor street, Oak Park, was shot in the left side and seriously wounded when he grappled with a lone holdup man who attempted to rob the saloon of Frank Spiegel, 1352 West Lake street.

Cuno Nuzzo, 40 years old, 824 Blue Island avenue, was shot in the right shoulder by an unidentified robber at West Folk street and Blue Island avenue.

Albert Lackman, 32 years old, colored, was shot and probably fatally wounded by William Boule, 35 years old, also colored, in a family row.

Policemen Philip O'Brien and John Ludwig took Mrs. Merritt to the hospital.

Too High, Iles Says.

The price of a pie having been reduced to 27 cents by the bakers, the council committee on living costs will endeavor to cut the cost to the restaurant patron and also increase the size of the portion. Robert S. Iles, counsel for this committee, outlined the objects of the campaign yesterday as follows: First—To fix a fair price for ordinary pie at 10 cents a portion.

Second—To fix the minimum size of a portion at one-fifth of a pie.

"Many restaurants are charging 15, 20, and 25 cents a portion for ordinary pie," Attorney Iles said. "The slices are often a sixth, seventh, or an eighth of the pie. The profit is too great."

Pie Consumption Cut in Half.

"The consumption of pie has been cut in half as a result," he said. "The committee may find it necessary to recommend to the council that an ordinance be passed fixing the maximum number of pieces into which a pie may be cut and served in a hotel or restaurant."

Pie prices will be included in the "deadly parallel" list by which the committee intends to show that restaurants are charging too much. The price lists and the weights of food portions served in restaurants, drug stores, cafeterias, and hotels in all sections of the city will be published.

Rolls and Coffee Again 10 Cents.

New bill of fare items were added to the fair price list yesterday. Attorney Iles gave 5 cents as a fair price for a cup of coffee and said rolls and coffee should not cost more than 10 cents.

Coffee and doughnuts should be served for 40 cents, not to exceed 15 cents, he said. A roast beef sandwich containing an ounce of meat can be sold for 15 cents at a large profit, he declared.

While some of the restaurants are doing nearly the fair thing, others are doing nearly the worst thing, he said, have ignored wholesale prices but raised their rates," Attorney Iles said.

COP CLUBS MAN TO SLEEP, BUT STAVES OFF MOB

W. H. Giest, 914 North Lawndale avenue, was rescued from an angry mob at Clark and Lake streets yesterday by Patrolman Robert J. Rudow. Giest was drunk, it is alleged, and assaulted an aged civil war veteran and Miss Ruby Adams of 2657 Maiden avenue, who interfered. Patrolman Rudow had to cut Giest unconscious to take him to Central station.

One Killed, Two Hurt in East Chicago Accidents

Frank O'Donnell, 53 years old, a laborer and the father of eleven children, was knocked down and killed by a street car in East Chicago yesterday.

Peter Sylvester and John Shulak of Hammond, Ind., were injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a New York Central train at an East Chicago grade crossing.

Steal Waukegan Mayor's Auto While He's at Church

Julius S. Biddinger, mayor of Waukegan, after attending service at the Immaculate Conception church, yesterday found his 1918 Buick sedan missing. A man had been seen passing the car at the Oak Forest sanitarium and the 100 or more wounded soldiers at the General hospital at East Forty-third street and Drexel boulevard, removed to adequate government hospitals.

Experts to Report Today on Sanity of Wanderer

Allentists who examined Carl Wanderer, who is on trial before Judge Joseph B. David for the murder of his alleged dupe, the "ragged stranger," are expected to report today on his sanity. The experts are Dr. James Whitney Hall, Dr. H. N. Moyer, Dr. E. D. Singer, the latter representing the state.

Mere Man Gets Peek Into Evanston Woman's Club

Evanston's exclusive feminine club, the Fortnightly, suspended the anti-man rule at yesterday's meeting and permitted husbands to attend. They presented a petition, prepared by Attorney Howard M. Carter, to permit them to attend regularly. The wives voted unanimously to permit them to attend one meeting a year.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

IMAGINATION—Bridges

BEG YOUR PARDON

In the headlines over the story about the Public Health Institute in Sunday's Tribune it was stated "reporter finds it full of quack methods." This was incorrect and in direct variance with the story, which read: "There was a report extant last week that the institution was a charlatan—a sort of 'quack' institution. The Tribune reporter found these rumors false, so far as his experience goes." The headline should have said: "Reporter Finds It Free of Quack Methods."

RENEW EFFORTS TO AID WOUNDED AND SICK HEROES

American Legion members and others are renewing efforts to have the eighty-two tubercular soldiers of the American expeditionary forces now cared for at the Oak Forest sanitarium and the 100 or more wounded soldiers at the General hospital at East Forty-third street and Drexel boulevard, removed to adequate government hospitals.

Take Woman for Cruelty to Her Stepdaughter

Mrs. Frances Marguelli, 734 South Loomis street, was arrested last night, charged with beating her 10-year-old stepdaughter, Rose Marguelli, with a broomstick.

Eugene Marchese, 1445 West Congress street, a tailor and a member of the state constabulary, followed the girl home Saturday, after she had tried to sell him some state vegetables, and entered the room as she was being beaten. Mrs. Marguelli fled.

Two brothers of Rose—Tony, 3 years old, and Joe, 9—were taken temporarily to the home of Marchese.

Park Fisher Stirs Police; It's a High School Stunt

Police searched Jackson park last night for a boy reported to be fishing in a fountain. They didn't find him, but inquiry revealed he was being initiated into a society of the Hyde Park High school and he had been ordered to "fish" in the fountain for four hours.

Some Sure Spring Signs Make Sunday Appearance

Spring is here. This was evidenced not only by the showing of copies of O. Khayyam in the windows of Michigan avenue book stores but by the hot weather trend of the health department's press agent yesterday.

"Chicago now has ten public bathing beaches," the statement explains, "and over 150 play grounds for the recreation of boys and girls; also twenty summer outing camps within easy reach of the city, which have accommodation for boys and girls and women."

WOMAN DIES OF POISONING

Miss Kate Quirk, 30 years old, 4155 West Twenty-fourth place, died in her home yesterday, supposedly of pisoning. She had dinner Saturday night with some friends in a restaurant.

YOUTH OF 1921 GET "CLEAN BILL" FROM SPEAKER

The young people of 1921 found an ardent champion last night at the Sunday Evening club. Allen D. Albert, former editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, the Washington Times, and the Columbus, O. News, and for the last fifteen years a student of the moral as well as physical development of cities, was the speaker.

Not "Jazzy Minded," Lecturer Holds.

Clears Youth of Charges.

Mr. Albert cleared the American youth of the charges of being "stupid, jazz minded, and indecent," asserting young people of today have "an inconceivable capacity for innocence that transcends our understanding."

The so-called "good old days" were not any better than the present, Mr. Albert declared. He held the old-fashioned discipline was a poor substitute for the present day motive by which young lives should be guided.

Find Pleasure in Books.

"The young people of today read, Turgenev and Gorky, and better still they discuss their reading openly," said the speaker. "The library shelves at home are not locked to them, nor are the book shops closed to them."

The Inquiring Reporter Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Question.

Do you find the ventilation of the public library good or bad?

Where Asked.

On Dearborn street between Washington and Randolph streets.

The Answers.

Mrs. C. R. Tikotsky, 949 North Hoyne avenue, housewife—I really don't think ventilation in the library is good for a public place of its kind. I think there should be a way of airing a place like that without inconveniencing people who go there. By that I mean not open windows and cause a draft.

R. J. Feldman, 5176 Michigan avenue, attorney—The library is one of the most important institutions in the city, because of the opportunity it affords for wide research. Its location is ideal. But its ventilation is bad and I think it should be improved at once. The cost would be small.

Miss Anna Carlson, 2821 North Whipple street, private secretary—I think the ventilation is very good, because men are not allowed to smoke as they are in most public places. The ohio in which I work is always full of smoke. That is my reason for thinking the library air is all right.

Albert L. Blumenfeld, 3326 Douglas boulevard, real estate broker—The library air could be immensely improved by installation of some indirect ventilation system so that when people are reading the windows would not be open and there would be no drafts. There is always a lot of dust blowing in.

Miss Elaine Harker, 5005 Glenwood avenue, stenographer—In the reading and reception rooms, I would say the ventilation is all right. But in the libraries it is bad, because the papers and books collect dust which causes the rooms to be stuffy. On the whole, considering the size of the place and the number of people who visit it, the air is not so bad.

Ushers Contribute $10 Towards Burial of Baby

The Tribune last night received $10 in an envelope in which was inclosed the following note: "Contribution for burial of baby who died at Michael Reese hospital. Donated by ushers of Sunday Evening club."

With previous contributions that increased the total to $24. A south side undertaking firm telephoned THIS TRIBUNE yesterday it would bury the baby for $15, including a grave.

CRISIS IN U. S. INDUSTRY NEAR, D. R. FORGAN SAYS

Reserve Bank Alone Stays
Panic, Banker Holds.

American industrial conditions are as critical as at any period within the last 44 years, not excepting 1893 and 1907, in the opinion of David R. Forgan, president of the National City Bank of Chicago, who spoke yesterday before the Current Events class of the First Congregational church of Evanston. Only the federal reserve banking system prevents a panic, in his view.

Replying to a question, he said the United States government should not cancel the debts of Great Britain and other countries, but instead these debts should be refunded with an issue of fifty year bonds. A sinking fund for their payment should be provided. Then at the expiration of the fifty year period, the countries will be able to clear their indebtedness, he declared. He termed Europe's war shattered credits a millstone for the United States.

Pre-War Basis Far Away.

"The condition of prices of raw materials and other commodities may be back to normal in three months," Mr. Forgan said, "but prophets on economic matters declare it will be five years before conditions of the country reach their pre-war basis. On raw materials which are now down to a low price level there will be a 'psychological reaction' which in a few months should send prices up again."

Mr. Forgan called attention to reports of large industrial companies during the last few months in which large losses were shown and said they indicate the "present industrial condition of the country and its general economic conditions are extremely grave."

Find Radicals Busy.

Coupled with the ill of the country is an industrial unrest which presents a problem equally grave, according to Mr. Forgan.

"I recently talked to a lumberman who had completed a survey of camps in the northwest," said Mr. Forgan. "He told me that he found lumbermen were reading quantities of radical and inflammatory literature spread by bolshevik forces for the purpose of inciting bohemism and unrest."

"The labor situation, because of the radical element which is continually at work, presents a problem which is definitely associated with the ailments of the land."

"The argument has been made that Wall street wanted to see the banks fail so labor unions would be disrupted. That is a false argument, for the failures would surely react against Wall street itself."

SPEEDING AUTO WRECKED AS IT FLEES POLICE

A race with an automobile in which Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes and a squad of detectives were riding ended abruptly when the speeder's car was wrecked at South Michigan avenue and East Forty-fifth street. William Fischer, son of the owner of the Hotel Florence, 11111 Forestville avenue, driver of the car, and four men and a woman were arrested.

Lucille DeHest, 10 years old, 4611 West Harrison street, was fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile driven by Peter Van Dyke, 4701 West Twelfth place, at South Chicago avenue and West Jackson boulevard. Van Dyke is being held.

Miss Beatrice Strahl, 19 years old, 3739 Bosworth avenue, was hurt when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by a machine driven by M. A. Goldenberg, 2918 West North avenue.

Mrs. Jacob Thelmer, 52 years old, 4948 Gunnison street, suffered bruises and possible spinal injury when she was struck at North Laverne and Lawrence avenue by the automobile driven by F. A. Peters, 4155 Richmond street.

BIG EVENTS OF WEEK FAIR TO CHANGE MARKET

The New York Times.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—A week ago there was more or less conjecture as to the effect, for better or worse, which the London conference and the presidential inauguration events. But the financial community there was, perhaps, no ring of coming events. But the financial community never gives up hope that some expected event a little while ahead will change the drift of things on the market. This vague idea will naturally be more prevalent when conditions in finance and business are unpleasant, and it will appeal most strongly of all when the market has fallen into a state of perplexity and bewilderment. Such a situation evidently existed; the reparations conference convened and the change of administration occurred, but the markets and the financial attitude which governs them were exactly the same at the end of the week as at the beginning.

Little Response to Big Events.
The course of last week's markets, both at home and abroad—no such much the character of their movements, but lack of any definite movement whatever—was such as might have indicated either the total irresponsiveness of financial sentiment to large political developments or its judgment that the occurrences of the week had in no respect changed the financial situation.

From the financial viewpoint there is something to say for the second of these suppositions. Notwithstanding the grave possibilities described in the London cables as a possible result of the deadlock at the conference, nothing has happened which was not expected in financial circles. The preposterous financial proposition by the German delegates, its rejection by the allies, and reconsideration of their proposals by the Germans, were entirely in line with expectations.

Harding Address Fails to Stir.
The possibility existed that Mr. Harding's inaugural address would declare so positively for concrete policies of a constructive sort, notably in foreign relations and government finance, that the obscurity in those directions would be measurably cleared up. Nobody seriously contends that the inaugural has accomplished anything of the sort.

His comments on it elicited from political leaders indications that men of exactly opposite opinions are interpreting the generalities of the speech as favoring the position of each side, and the somewhat perfunctory comments of financial leaders suggest more interest over what Mr. Harding did not say than at what he said. This is nothing unusual with an inaugural address; declaration of actual policies is usually reserved for messages to the new congress, with specific recommendations. But it made the absence of any response by the financial markets quite intelligible.

More of Some Kind Due.
It is one of the traditions of the stock exchange that when the market had "gone dead," when legitimate business either for sales or purchases has sunk to negligible volume, and when even the activities of professional speculators are at a standstill, nothing more than driving prices for a few stocks in one direction and then letting prices go back to the previous level, that state of things forebodes the beginning of a new and definite and sustained movement in one or the other direction.

It is not a wholly reliable tradition because sometimes the investing public's inertia is permanent, and the advance or decline in stocks, even when vigorously begun, turn out very soon to have been a false start. The upward movement of prices in January and the first stages of the recent decline in the shares of industrial companies both had the appearance of abortive attempts to arouse a financial public which did not mean to be aroused.

Predicted Changes Fail to Come.
Both movements, however, seemed to lack the real foundation. The January rise was pivoted on expectation of an immediate rise in stocks, even when it did not occur. The February decline was based on the supposition that the investing public would be dismayed at unfavorable company reports which had been predicted but have not occurred, or that a distinct turn might be given to the whole financial market.

But it is usually the experience at such times that the outcome which is afterward remembered as "marking the turn" were events which had been neither predicted nor expected. Of the present situation it may be said that, since almost every possible event of an unfavorable character has lately figured in stock exchange prophecy, the chances favor a surprise of a reassuring character.

No Selling on Bad News.

It is also a commonplace that the market in which the real holders of stocks will not sell either in stocks or commodities. But it is true of both markets that the public will never buy on falling prices, and prices both of stocks and commodities have on the whole been falling. If a change in the respect to either of them will come, it will come either because the outside buyer has concluded that the limit of possible decline has been reached or because prices have begun to recover for other reasons.

LIFE OF CAR FIVE YEARS.

The Chief Insurance Car Inspectors' association, in session at the Hotel Sherman, was told that the average life of a freight car is about five years, and that the average cost of overhauling a car and putting it in repair is from $600 to $1,500, depending on the type of car and the length of its service. In the north the average car used is of nearly ten years, in the south thirty-four.

"YOURS of the 5th inst. received, and in reply wish to advise—
All of the girls whose photographs appear today as entrants in THE TRIBUNE'S $20,000 beauty contest know how to click off sentences like the one above. They have started many a letter in just that fashion, their eyes gazing into space, their fingers playing swiftly over the keys.
But it is not their business ability but their beauty that counts this morning."

If one of them is found to be the most beautiful girl in the central west she will be awarded $10,000.
The chances are that if one of these stenographers should win the grand prize she would feel justified in taking a day or two off from the office.
If Chicago is more strongly represented today than other territories included in the contest, it is because stenographers are more plentiful here than elsewhere. The girls of other occupations will have their turn, but today is strictly stenographers' day.

Do you know any stenographers as beautiful as those whose pictures appear today?
Remember that $10,000 will be awarded to the most beautiful girl in the central west, regardless of occupation, when she is found.
In addition ten prizes will be distributed in each of the six territorial divisions—the city of Chicago, the state of Illinois outside of Chicago, the state of Indiana, the state of Iowa, the state of Wisconsin, and the state of Michigan.
The first prize in each of these divisions will be $1,000, the second $250, the third $100, and the remaining seven $50 each.

The grand prize winner will receive not only $10,000 in cash but also one of the sixty territorial prizes.
The contest is open to every girl, unmarried or a widow, who resides anywhere in the five states, except professional beauties.
Select a photograph of yourself or some girl friend and write plainly on the back of it the name, street address, and occupation of the entrant.
Send the photograph to "Beauty Contest," CHICAGO TRIBUNE, 7 South Dearborn street, Chicago.
